COMMITTEES APPOINTED BY C. OF C. HEAD

Capacity Crowd Attends Re-Organization Meeting of Civic Association.

A capacity crowd attended the first fall and organization meeting of the Circleville Chamber of Commerce at the Palace restaurant Tuesday night. Appointment of standing committees for the year by President A. C. Moore was a feature of the gathering.

The Chamber of Commerce is important to the community, but it is dependent upon the efforts of the individual members," Mr. Moore said. "It is hoped to eliminate the back-biting and criticism, which probably have been justified in the past, by the active and whole-hearted co-operation of the membership in making the organization take its place as the leader in civic affairs."

OFFICE ALWAYS OPEN

It was announced by T. F. Jeffries, chairman of the finance committee, that the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Mack Parrett, Jr., will maintain permanent offices at the organization's rooms in the Masonic temple. Mr. Parrett will move his real estate office to the Chamber of Commerce and will thus be on duty at all times to render service to those needing the aid of the Chamber of Commerce.

President Moore called attention to the fact that there will be a joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and the Chamber of Commerce the night of Nov. 7, to hear Gov. Myers Y. Cooper speak. He revealed that efforts had been made to get President Hoover to stop in Circleville on his coming trip to Ohio, but that the chief executive of the nation will not come near enough to the city to visit here.

COMMITTEES NAMED

The committees appointed by President Moore are as follows: Entertainment and program — J. E. Burns, Harry Stevenson, Ed Ebert and Karl Herrmann.

Finance — T. J. Jeffries, Clark Will, R. P. Enderlin and John D. Mumml.

Membership and attendance — Tom O. Gilliland, Harry Steinhauser, Mack Parrett, Jr. and Harry Yokum.

Banquet — Ed Crist, Ed Sensenbrenner, Frank Barnhill and Clarence Barnhart.

Industrial survey and expansion — Earl Lutz, Frank Lynch, Lee E. Dimond and R. L. Brehmer.

Legislative and public relations — Walter Marion, Mayor B. T. Hedges, George Fitzpatrick, Clark Will and Tom Renick.

Public utilities — J. P. Noecker, Charles Gilmore, Earl Lutz and Harry Denman.

Farm relations — Stanley Lewis, Robert Wiley, Walter Marion and Lee Shamer.

Publicity — Karl Herrmann, Lee E. Dimond, Harry Weil and Glenn Nickerson.

Chaplain — E. S. Neuding.

CLUB WILL HAVE BASKETBALL FIVE

At a meeting of the Circleville athletic club, Tuesday night, arrangements were completed for the sponsoring of a basketball team this winter, following the same principle as in former years. Tickets will be sold by members of the club.

The club also is announcing that it is planning to book a high class dance orchestra out of Chicago for dancing here in the gymnasium during the Pumpkin Show. The orchestra hired, will have a vocal list.

Max Seyfert left Monday for New York City on business. At Atlantic City he will be joined by his mother, Mrs. M. C. Seyfert, and sister, Miss Hulda Seyfert, who have been staying at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, Republican Congresswoman from Massachusetts, had the signal honor of being the first woman speaker of the House of Representatives, when she received written authorization from Speaker Longworth to preside pro-tem in his absence.

Congressional Investigation Into Activities of Lobbyists Now Looms

Great Number of Scandals May Be Unearthed If Probe Is Launched.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(INS) —A far-reaching investigation into all forms of congressional lobbying—which annually accounts for the expenditure of millions of dollars in Washington—appeared today as a result of the senate's adoption of the Caraway resolution.

The senate judiciary committee, of which Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, is chairman, was authorized to conduct the inquiry and no strings were tied to the committee's activities.

There was widespread speculation in Washington today as to how far the committee will go. If it decides to go thoroughly and exhaustively into the subject there may be a succession of scandals that will make history, for it is conceded that lobbying of all kinds has increased tremendously in the capital since the war.

COMMITTEE TO DECIDE
The committee itself will decide the limits of its investigation. A meeting will be held in a few days to discuss the situation and map out plans. A sub-committee of probably five members will be appointed to conduct the inquiry.

The powers granted the committee are broad enough to include consideration of every kind of effort by paid agents to influence legislation—from the individual who attempts to obtain higher tariff duties on specific commodities to the professional reformer who agitates in the halls of congress the institution of Sunday "blue laws" and more drastic prohibition legislation.

The liberals and anti-prohibitionists in congress have long demanded investigation of the activities of the Anti-Saloon League, the Methodist Board of Prohibition, temperance and public morals, and other professional reform organizations which maintain extensive lay-outs in Washington. Similarly, the dregs have demanded investigation of the numerous organizations that have sprung up to agitate for modification of the Volstead act.

FARM BLOC DEMAND
Most of the members of the judiciary committee, however, are pronounced dry, so whether the inquiry will be directed into this phase of it is problematical. Senator Blaine (R) of Wisconsin, is the only member who is openly

TRUCK IS STOLEN

Two boys who escaped Monday from the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster are believed to have stolen the Ford truck of Turney Leist, who lives on the Lancaster road near the Pickaway-co Infirmary from his barn Monday night.

Footprints on the gravelled driveway revealed that the thieves had pushed the car from the barn. In the truck were two five gallon cans of gasoline which will insure a fuel supply for the present owners.

The fugitive boys are Albert Hasty of Dayton and Nick Clark of Akron.

CHIEF LOGAN TO BE TOPIC OF SPEAKERS

Ohio History Day Will Be Observed At Tree Made Famous By Indian.

Once more, that the history of Ohio may not die, but become more firmly embedded in the minds of all, the eleventh Ohio History Day will be observed Sunday, Oct. 6, at Logan Elm Park. In charge of the Ohio History Association, and headed by Mrs. Howard Jones, president, a splendid program has been arranged for this annual homage to the Red Man.

In the natural amphitheater that surrounds the giant Logan Elm, the gathering Sunday will represent those who have followed with interest the facts surrounding Chief Logan, the friend of the White Man. The authentic knowledge of the facts before and after Logan's famous speech made beneath what then must have been a small elm tree, has been made possible by the Ohio History Association, of which a number of local citizens are members.

EXPECT MANY VISITORS
Chief Logan, from his place in the Happy Hunting Ground, will surely nod his head in approval as the program, in his honor, is consummated, and his tribe extolled as the father of Ohio Indian.

It has been more than 150 years ago since he appealed to every white man in one of the most eloquent speeches ever achieved by speakers anywhere.

Visitors at the History Day celebration are expected from all parts of Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Indiana. The program will be of interest to all ages. Two speakers are from Columbus. They are J. J. Lentz, former congressman, and president of the American Insurance Union, and C. G. Galbreath, widely known Ohio historian and writer for the Columbus Dispatch.

Mrs. Anna Chandler of Circleville, will read a paper on "The Grenadier Squaw," the story of an Indian woman who was the ruler of her tribe of Indians long ago and who has been named the first business woman of Ohio. Music for the afternoon will be furnished by the K. of P. band of Adelphi.

THE PROGRAM
The following program will be given promptly at 2 o'clock:

Invocation by Dr. Franklin McElfresh.

Salute to the Flag.

Music by the K. of P. Band of Adelphi.

Address of welcome, Tom Renick.

Introduction of the speaker, by John F. Carlisle of Columbus.

Address by Hon. J. J. Lentz of Columbus.

Music by the band.

Address by C. B. Galbreath, of Columbus.

Paper on "The Grenadier Squaw," by Mrs. Anna Chandler.

Music by the band.

Admission to the park is free. As it is impossible to accommodate all the automobiles, inside the park, the field across the road has been donated for parking purposes by the owner. Competent men are ready to care for all machines and a small fee of 25 cents is asked to cover expenses. In 10 years there has never been an accident of any sort. There is good water on the premises and other accommodations which makes one of "God's First Temples" an ideal spot to visit Sunday and to stay all day.

KIWANIAN'S SELECT LIEUT. GOVERNORS

MARIETTA, O., Oct. 2.—(INS) —Lieutenant governors of 11 districts of the Ohio Kiwanis were chosen at the annual convention here today.

A Good Start for a Long Married Life

ASTONISHED AT VETS' ATTACK

Sergeant Alvin York Refers Critics of His Prowess To War Department.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Oct. 2.—(INS) —Sergeant Alvin York, Tennessee mountaineer who has been generally acclaimed as the greatest of A. E. F. war heroes, expressed astonishment today when he was questioned regarding the alleged efforts of Sergeant Bernard Early of New Haven, Conn., and Percy Beardsley of Roxbury, Conn. to discredit his war record.

Early and Beardsley, according to a published story from Boston, are enroute to Washington to present evidence purporting to prove that York obtained his reputation through fraud.

"This is a complete surprise to me," York said. "I'm not acquainted with either Early or Beardsley and I can't imagine what their purpose is in attacking my record. My exploits during the war are all on file with the war department. I can't understand what they have against me."

York is credited with having killed 28 of the enemy and capturing 132 others singlehanded during the Argonne offensive.

Early claims it is charged, that in reality these prisoners were captured by a group of American soldiers in which York was not included.

The 50,000 odd members of the American Legion who are assembled here for their eleventh annual convention were prepared to settle down to the serious side of the convention after three days of fun-making. In all probability, a new national commander will be selected today and the site of next year's convention decided. The 1930 convention is being eagerly sought by both Boston and Los Angeles.

RAIN ENHANCES BARBECUE SUPPER

Th chill of an autumn rain will not impede the progress of the barbecue supper at the Pickaway country club this evening. Although the golf may have been spoiled, the dismal outdoors will only make the cheerful open fire in the 19th hole more pleasing within.

The beef has been cooking all day, and the corn roasting. The cellar is full of watermelons, and the smell of coffee and plenty of it will soon fill the club house.

The weather has turned the attention of the committee to indoor entertainment and cards and other amusement will be furnished. There has been a fire in the furnace all day and the closed porch is warm and cozy. The barbecue must go on and will be enjoyed the more for the dismal, dreary day without.

POSTMASTER EXAM.

A United States civil service examination will be held for applicants for the position of postmaster at Orient. Applications will be filed at Washington D. C. and the applicants are warned against paying money or other valuable consideration to anyone in taking the examination or securing an appointment.

Many Charges Hurlled at Rothstein Murder Mystery Gets Into Politics

Showdown Imminent In Slaying of Gambler As Election Approaches.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(INS) —Amid a furor of political oratory and bitter recriminations, the celebrated Arnold Rothstein murder mystery today was propelled to the point where a "showdown" is imminent.

Stung by criticism heaped upon him for alleged laxity in pushing the case, District Attorney Joao H. Banton, was to make formal application this morning in general sessions for a jury panel of 100 from which a jury of 12 men will be selected to try George McManus, a bookmaker, for the murder of Rothstein, nationally known gambler, who was fatally shot in room 349 of the Park Central hotel on the night of Nov. 4, last.

Date of the trial is expected to be set for Oct. 14.

This afternoon the original Rothstein grand jury will reconvene, and the district attorney will present several new witnesses and many who testified last November in the original investigation.

Every newspaper in New York City today carried front page stories on the Rothstein case. Politicians vied with each other in scoring Tammany hall and the Mayor James J. Walker administration for alleged inactivity and incompetence in dealing with the mystery. The case is comparable to the famous Herman Rosenthal killing of 1912 which caused a political upheaval in New York.

From the outstanding issue in the mayoralty campaign, the Rothstein case was today elevated to a state issue when acting Governor Herbert Lehman's refusal to investigate it was met with a demand by Senator John Knight, a Republican, for a legislative probe of the Broadway gambler's shooting.

CHARGES HURLED

The sulphurous statements, candidates for office in the mayoralty campaign have given voice to a mass of suspicious and charges, involving high Tammany officials, police officials and even Tammany judges. The burden of the allegations have been that these officials deliberately "squashed" the Rothstein investigation for reasons.

PAYROLL PADDING WILL BE PROBED

PORTSMOUTH, O., Oct. 2.—Alleged payroll padding, which is said to involve several thousands of dollars within the county highway department will be investigated by the grand jury which meets here next Monday County Prosecutor Dr. W. Gustin declared here.

D. A. Breining of Waverly, according to the county prosecutor, is alleged to have forced his name to the county highway department payrolls.

J. M. FURNESS DIES

John M. Furness, 45, farmer died Tuesday at his home near Orient from heart disease. He is survived by his widow, four daughters and five sons. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the residence. Burial will be in Jackson township cemetery, near Fox postoffice.

VICTIMS ARE UNION MEN IN COTTON MILL

Spectacular Gun Fight Is Claimed To Walk Out At Marion, North Carolina.

MARION, N. C., Oct. 2.—(INS) —Two killed and 19 wounded were the toll of a spectacular gun battle between striking union workers "loyal" employees at the Marion Manufacturing Co. Plant this morning.

The exchange of shots ceased when the "loyal" employees attempted to enter the mill to go to work. The dead are: Randolph Hall and Sam Vickera, union workers who went on a walk out with several hundred other employees.

TROOPS REQUESTED
Civil authorities telegraphed Governor O. Max Gardner to rush state troopers here to prevent further outbreaks among the mill employees.

The list of wounded numbered both "loyal" and striking operatives. Several deputy sheriffs were wounded in attempting to restore order. None of the deputies hit by the flying bullets, however, are believed to be seriously wounded.

The battle was the first flare of violence during the long strike here, since strikers rioted nearly a month ago. Nearly 100 strikers and strike organizers including A. L. Hoffman, southern organizer for the United Textile Workers Union, were arrested on charges of inciting a riot. A number of them, Hoffman included, are to face trial this month.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGES
The strike was sponsored by the United Textile Workers Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, but not connected with the "Communist" national Textile Workers Union, which organized the Gastonia, N. C. strike.

Last night several hundred workers on the night shift went out on a new strike because they claimed the company was discriminating against union employees in violation of an agreement entered into when the last strike was settled in the early part of September.

This morning at 7 o'clock on the mill opened and the day shift went out, the strikers were at the entrance of the plant and fired upon the "loyal workers." Immediately guns barked from both sides.

ATHENS PUBLISHER IS SERIOUSLY ILL

ATHENS, O., Oct. 2.—(INS) —The condition of Fred W. Bush, publisher of the Athens Messenger, who suffered a stroke of paralysis at his desk yesterday afternoon, took a turn for the worse shortly before noon today and physicians fear for his life.

Bush is 65 years of age and has been in good health until he suffered the stroke.

He is a member of the board of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association and is well known in journalistic circles throughout the state.

All members of the Circleville Rifle club are asked to attend a meeting of the organization Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Armory on E. Franklin-st. Business of importance will be transacted and a program of fall and winter activities will be outlined.

PREFERENCE IN ENTRY CARRIES

Custom Inspectors Forced To Recognize Privilege To U. S. Officials.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(INS) —After several months of treating all travelers alike insofar as customs examination of baggage is concerned, the U. S. customs service hauled down its flag today and surrendered to those who insist upon preferential treatment when coming through ports of entry.

New regulations announced for examination of baggage today restored the old system of "free entry" to government officials and members of congress returning from abroad on "official business," and "courtesy of the port" for these same classes of gentlemen who return from pleasure trips.

The so-called "courtesy" simply means expeditious examination of baggage.

The practices of extending "free entry" and "courtesy of the port" were abolished some months ago after several scandals developed from dr. congressmen bringing liquor and getting by with it.

Advertising Educates
The message of advertising is an education, according to the opinion of this reader of The Herald, whose letter follows:

"I think advertised products are better because they enable you to become more acquainted with the world and its work.

"Advertising is also very profitable in a wide circulating newspaper where competent stenographers and typists are employed.

"Some time ago we had a furnace installed and wished to sell our Florence Coal Heater. We advertised it in the daily paper and sold it next day at a reasonable price."

KAISER BILL MAY GO HOME

Exiled Ruler of Germany Planning Return to Fatherland, Report Says.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—The former Kaiser Wilhelm, exiled from his native land soon after the World war, is planning to return to Germany, it was reported in an exchange telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam today.

The ex-Kaiser, according to the report, plans to dispose of his country estate at Doorn, Holland, where he has been in exile for ten years, and take up residence in the castle he has purchased from Count Imhoff at Coburg in Saxony.

Under the repeal of the defense of the republic act by the German Reichstag recently, the Kaiser is given permission to return to Germany, but previous reports stated that he wished to spend the remainder of his days at Doorn.

No news has been received at the Hague concerning the ex-Kaiser's reported intentions.

VICTIMS ARE UNION MEN IN COTTON MILL

Spectacular Gun Fight Is Claimed To Walk-out At Marion, North Carolina.

MARION, N. C., Oct. 2.—(INS.)—Two killed and 19 wounded was the toll of a spectacular gun battle between striking union workers "loyal" employees at the Marion Manufacturing Co Plant this morning.

The exchange of shots ensued when the "loyal" employees attempted to enter the mill to go to work. The dead are: Randolph Hall and Sam Vickers, union workers who went on a walk out with several hundred other employees.

TROOPS REQUESTED
Civil authorities telegraphed Governor O. Max Gardner to rush state troopers here to prevent further outbreaks among the mill employees.

The list of wounded numbered both "loyal" and striking operatives. Several deputy sheriffs were wounded in attempting to restore order. None of the deputies hit by the flying bullets, however, are believed to be seriously wounded.

The battle was the first flare of violence during the long strike here, since strikers rioted nearly a month ago. Nearly 100 strikers and strike organizer including A. L. Hoffman, southern organizer for the United Textile Workers Union, were arrested on charges of inciting a riot. A number of them, Hoffman included, are to face trial this month.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGED

The strike was sponsored by the United Textile Workers Union, affiliated with the American federation of Labor, but not connected with the "Communist" national Textile Workers Union, which organized the Gastonia, N. C. strike.

Last night several hundred workers on the night shift went out on a new strike because they claimed the company was discriminating against union employees in violation of an agreement entered into when the last strike was settled in the early part of September.

This morning at 7 o'clock as the mill opened and the day shift went on, the strikers were at the entrance of the plant and fired upon the "loyal workers." Immediately guns barked from both sides.

ATHENS PUBLISHER IS SERIOUSLY ILL

ATHENS, O., Oct. 2.—(INS.)—The condition of Fred W. Bush, publisher of the Athens Messenger who suffered a stroke of paralysis at his desk yesterday afternoon, took a turn for the worse shortly before noon today and physicians fear for his life.

Bush is 65 years of age and had been in good health until he suffered the stroke.

He is a member of the board of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association and is well known in journalistic circles throughout the state.

All members of the Circleville Rifle club are asked to attend a meeting of the organization Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Armory on E. Franklin-st. Business of importance will be transacted and a program of fall and winter activities will be outlined.

Advertising Educates

The message of advertising is an education, according to the opinion of this reader of The Herald, whose letter follows:

"I think advertised products are better because they enable you to become more acquainted with the world and its work."

"Advertising is also very profitable in a wide circulating newspaper where competent stenographers and typists are employed."

"Some time ago, we had a furnace installed and wished to sell our Florence Coal Heater. We advertised it in the daily paper and sold it next day at a reasonable price."

TIGER ELEVEN WILL TRAVEL TO FRANKFORT

Local Grid Crew Hopes To Add To String of Victories On Invasion.

Circleville Tigers will meet the Frankfort Eleven, this Friday on the latter's gridiron. This game should be one of the best games of the fall sport as both teams are fast and have both played a game. Last Friday the Roundtowners defeated Walnut 25-0 and are hoping to add to their victory. Frankfort has tangled with Lancaster this season and reports state that a strong team is in evidence. Last year, the Guthrie lads lost to Frankfort by a 20-0 score. This year revenge is being sought and if the boys fight as they have been in practice a tight game will be played.

This week, scrimmage has been held every evening. Tuesday night the first stringers romped over the sub crew easily making long runs for touchdowns. In the back field, Davis, Rector, Wilson,

TWENTY YEARS OF SUFFERING ENDED BY SPINAGO

Columbus Man Thanks New Medicine Containing Spinach For Health Regained.

"Indigestion, constipation and rheumatism caused me terrible misery for twenty years. When I say that during all this time I could not call my life my own, I am not exaggerating in the least. I couldn't eat without pain; indigestion was the cause of that. I couldn't sleep and I couldn't work on account of the rheumatic pains which ran through my body at frequent intervals. I could not seem to get any benefit from any medicine although I tried one after another until Spinago came along. One bottle of this tonic showed me the way to health and three bottles made a new man out of me."

"My bowels have now been perfectly regulated and all signs of constipation are gone. I can eat anything I please without fear of suffering from indigestion pains. My limbs are free from rheumatism and I sleep like a log. Truly Spinago has worked wonders for me."

So says Mr. Michael Riley who resides in Columbus at 219 N. High St. And hundreds of others call daily at the drug stores where the merits of Spinago are explained, to prove this super-tonic and to tell of health and happiness regained through its use.

Spinago is sold and guaranteed by The Mykran Pharmacy, 107 N. Court St. and by all other good druggists in this vicinity. Adv.

Columbia Defeats Middlebury in Easy Game

Charley Joyce of the Columbia University eleven seen first game of the season in New York. The game crashing through the Middlebury "Lions" during the proved an easy one for Columbia.

Heiskell and Hundley have seen the most action and the starting lineup will no doubt be chosen from these.

On ends, Green, White and Iles are showing up well and will very likely see action Friday.

Guards and tackles who will probably see action are: Good, Hoffman, Hill, Gordon, Dunlap and Lewis.

On center, there is no question but what Adams will hold down its position Friday. Wilbur played one of the best games that has been seen on the C. H. S. field for a long time. It would be a hard loss to the Tigers to lose Wilbur.

Coach Guthrie states that the boys have more than a fighting chance to win and if the play heads up football they'll be on top.

POOR OPENING DAY

Littopolis had a poor day Wednesday for the opening of its Corn Carnival. This is the first venture of this town 18 miles from Circleville, toward a town fair. Perhaps the rest of the week will favor the event, the village made famous by the Wagnalls Memorial.

WINTER WEATHER ARRIVES IN CITY

The end of season for steamed nose glasses, glorified overshoes and close friendships with the ice men, and a year for stylish winter clothes seemed to be at hand on Wednesday, with a temperature standing at 56, and feeling nearer 36.

Dogs that have been lancing all summer, making friends with the down town workers, had returned to their fireplaces or radiators, and not even a friendly wag of a tail greeted persons hurrying up and down the streets eager to complete their errands and to get inside.

Perhaps Wednesday was a sample of the bad weather that usually comes before Indian summer, which is to be hoped will arrive this year in time for Pumpkin Show.

Mrs. Barbara Heckman, sister of Ira Harrison of Circleville, died Tuesday at her home in Ashland, O. She was a former resident of East Ringgold. She was born in Hocking-co near South Perry, O., the daughter of William and Mary Anne Harrison. She was the widow of E. Heckman, and was the mother of four children, one of whom is dead. Those who survive are Ira, Orren, and Edward and Mary Probes, all of Ashland, O.

Short funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2 p. m., at the grave, which will be in Reber Hill cemetery.

Fast Action Is Promised on Fistic Program at Grand Theater Tonight

Columbus Flash Will Meet Lancaster Battler in Main Go of Fistic Card.

Some real action will be presented to patrons of the Grand Opera House tonight between the first and second regular shows. "Domestic Meddlers," featuring Claire Windsor, is the all star photoplay straight from Broadway. A fast comedy will supplement the feature.

In the watch 'em sock 'em card, real fistic talent will be the attraction. Buff Swartz, Lancaster terror, is slated to go three rounds with Jock Greenlee, Columbus flash from Les Huffman's stable. These boys fought last summer at Orlentangy Park in a bout that had the crowd on their feet the entire time. This bout should be a corker. Both boys are featherweights.

Mexican Kid, of Cincinnati, at 126 pounds will tangle with his old rival Kid Brown, of Chillicothe. These boys have met three times and each bout was a hair raiser and ended in a close decision or a draw.

Art Culp, husky east side boy, will meet a boy with a real punch in Roy McQuade from the south side.

The bout which has aroused more interest than any bout for some time is the one featuring Midget Merle Davis, latest sensation from the east side, who will swap punches with Paul Beck from the north side. They met once before in a real watch 'em sock 'em affair at Mason's Park and neither was satisfied with the decision. Beck says he will stop his rival in two rounds and add to his growing list, but the little east side boy is undunted and is confident that there won't be any doubt in the decision tonight as he hopes to win decisively. The whole east side will be out to see their pride annihilate Beck.

Loren Davis popular C. H. S. football captain, will second for his brother. Bill Pickens, veteran referee, will act in the capacity of third man in the ring in all the bouts except the first. Micky O'Riley, retired featherweight champion, will referee this fracas. Doors open at 6.30. Popular prices prevail.

NEW STAR ON O. S. U. FIELD

Coach Willaman Hopes Young Columbus Player Is Not "Flash In Pan."

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 2—(INS)—Has Ohio State another Grim, Coffee, or Eby, in the person of Bob Horn, flashy young halfback on the varsity eleven of the "Scarlet and Gray?"

Horn, formerly of North High, Columbus, showed well, almost too well, in a scrimmage yesterday when the varsity pounded through the reserves for a 24-to-0 victory. The North high star, on the first play after the kick-off, snuggled the pigskin under his arm and shipped off tackle for a 70-yard run for a touchdown.

Was it a flash in the pan, or can Horn duplicate the feat? Sam Willaman, the Buckeye coach, has that to decide today. McConnell, the varsity other half, scored the second touchdown by a 42-yard run on a criss-cross play and the third came when Al Hess intercepted a pass from the scrub eleven, and skirted the field for 40 yards for a touchdown.

McClure, who subbed in the full back berth, took the ball over the fourth score.

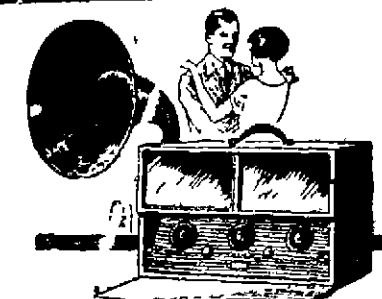

The scrimmage did not start until darkness had almost descended and it was held under 10 huge arc lamps.

Willaman admitted things looked promising today, for the Wittenberg game, Saturday, anyhow.

CARD CLUB IN AMANDA

An enjoyable evening was spent when Miss Adah Wilson entertained members of her card club and several guests Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Madden at her home at Amanda.

Four tables of players enjoyed the interesting game of five hundred with favors being awarded to Mrs. Merle Johnson, Mrs. Albert Ream, Mr. C. J. Nolte and Mr. Frank Madden.

A dainty two course luncheon was served at the end of play and Mrs. Madden (Mary Christy) was presented with a lovely gift by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shride spent

Sunday in Columbus as guests of his brother, Mr. A. K. Shride and daughter, Florence.

TO HONOR MINISTER WITH RECEPTION

Honoring the new minister, the Rev. W. F. Rutherford, of the United Brethren church, members of the congregation will have a reception Thursday evening at the Community house on E. Main-st. E. S. Neuding, in charge of the affair, has arranged an interesting program and light refreshments will be in charge of the women of the church.

All members of the United Brethren church are invited and their friends. The evening will be informal and will be devoted entirely to making friends with the new pastor. The reception will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

W. C. T. U. IN FIVE POINTS

The last regular meeting of the Five Points W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Garnet Davis Sept. 11. The meeting was opened by singing "Cheering Someone on," followed by Scripture reading and the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The secretary and treasurers reports were read and approved. Eighteen members responded to roll call and five visitors were present. A splendid report for the month was given in by the Flower Mission director.

The president, Mrs. Lillian K. Downs, appointed directors for 12 departments of work. A most interesting paper entitled "Busy Women in W. C. T. U." was read by Mrs. Gladys Dennison.

The W. C. T. U. is a union of busy women. It is an organized embodiment of individual longings, prayers, hopes and labors. It is a protest against wicked laws and barbarous customs, uttered by the organized volume of more than half a million voices in this country.

The W. C. T. U. has much to its credit. Much more may be accomplished of the busy women now outside its ranks, for getting the things they can not do, will at once do the thing each one CAN do—give her membership and add her unit to the Sum Total.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Irene Pollock in Mt. Sterling, Wednesday, Oct. 9. The meeting closed with W. C. T. U. benediction and a social hour followed.

U. B. SOCIETY ON THURSDAY

The Missionary society of the United Brethren church will meet Thursday afternoon at the suburban home of Miss Mary Myers on the Ringgold-pk. This promises to be a meeting of unusual interest to which all members are urged to be present. The appointed hour is 2:30 o'clock.

STOMACH TROUBLE QUICKLY ENDED BY NEW KONJOLA

Happy Man Tells How Konjola Was the Only Medicine That Relieved Him.

MR. F. S. GREENLEAF
"For eight years I suffered stomach trouble," said Mr. F. S. Greenleaf, 316 Boulevard, Marion, Ohio. "Food would not digest as it should. After every meal gas formed, causing great pain especially around the heart, and this worried me. I lost in weight and strength, and I became greatly discouraged over my condition and had about given up hope of every seeing another well day."

"Then a friend recommended Konjola to me and insisted that I give it a chance to prove its merit. Four bottles of this medicine ended the stomach trouble. I can eat anything I want and the food digests perfectly. Gas and sour stomach has been eliminated, and I am feeling fine. Konjola is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to all who suffer as I did."

Konjola is sold in Circleville at Hamilton & Ryan drug store, and at all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

CARD CLUB IN AMANDA

An enjoyable evening was spent when Miss Adah Wilson entertained members of her card club and several guests Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Madden at her home at Amanda.

Four tables of players enjoyed the interesting game of five hundred with favors being awarded to Mrs. Merle Johnson, Mrs. Albert Ream, Mr. C. J. Nolte and Mr. Frank Madden.

A dainty two course luncheon was served at the end of play and Mrs. Madden (Mary Christy) was presented with a lovely gift by the hostess.

BEEFITS OF EXPLORATION

If farmers had any means of knowing whether the growing season ahead of them was to be wet or dry; if they could be warned of an early fall or a late spring; if manufacturers could be apprized of short summers or long winters, the economic saving would be inestimable.

No one knows how much can be accomplished in this direction, but the Byrd expedition in the Antarctic seems to be accomplishing something. Since air and water currents tend to flow from the polar regions toward the equator the possibilities of improved meteorological service as a result of the present research are great. The expedition may prove of inestimable value.

The public has been much interested in Commander Byrd's adventure. The romance of visiting unknown, frozen lands buried under thick sheets of ice, and facing the dangers of such a hostile region for the ostensible purpose of making known to civilization what it is like, has stimulated the imagination of the public.

For several months the progress of the expedition as told by the radio has edified, entertained and thrilled the world, but more tangible and permanent benefits are expected from it before the explorers return home.

PROGRESS IN THE AIR

Last year the United States took the lead in the production of aircraft. This year it will greatly widen its margin of leadership.

These facts set right our world perspective on aviation. Americans who are familiar with the great air services of Europe have quite naturally formed the opinion that these nations are far ahead of their own in this field.

The fact is that if large governmental subsidies were removed most of the European air lines would collapse. Few are self-sustaining. But in the United States, aviation has had a natural and healthy growth and is now on the threshold of establishment as a complete public utility integrated with the railroads in a network of service for passengers and valuable freights as well as the mails.

Americans are buying few foreign planes, while many American-made planes are being sold in foreign countries. From this the one conclusion to draw is that the airplane has been brought nearest the point of perfection in the United States.

Today the tendency in aircraft manufacture seems to be toward more small factories. It was the same with the automobile industry in its infancy. In another year of two the nation will witness many mergers and, it is not unlikely, several failures among the plane manufacturers.

Hohenzollern Family

The Hohenzollerns trace their descent from Count Thasso, who lived about the beginning of the Ninth century, and built a castle on Zollern hill in the Swabian Alps near Hechingen. From this height his descendants derived their patronymic. A separation took place about 1165 when Frederick IV founded the elder or Swabian, and Conrad III, the younger or Franconian line. The first was subdivided into the branches of Hechingen and Sigmaringen in 1576. From the Emperor Sigismund Frederick VI, of the younger line, received the investiture of the electorate of Brandenburg, in 1415, and founded the dynasty of kings of Prussia and German emperors that reigned till November, 1918. The branches of the elder line continued unbroken till 1840. Then the resigned princes surrendered their respective rights and principalities to the king of Prussia for annual pensions.—Literary Digest.

SPEECH DEFECTS ARE NEGLECTED

Survey Shows 500,000 Children Afflicted With Stammering.

Washington.—Disorders in speech have been grossly neglected, according to the United States public health service. This is especially true in the case of school children, it was pointed out in a statement issued here.

Of 1,000,000 persons suffering from some defect in speech in this country today approximately 500,000 are children who stammer or stutter. Uncorrected imperfections in speech observed in childhood, the public health service said, become a serious economic and social handicap in later life because of their bearing on educational achievement and ability to secure preferential employment.

Defects Are Functional.

The majority of speech defects, fortunately, are functional in character, not dependent on definite organic lesions and can, therefore, be corrected. Most speech defects, it was said, develop in children between three and eight years old. The public health service listed retarded speech, imperfect speech, associated with partial deafness, imperfections caused by malformations of the organs of speech, and the nervous speech disorders, namely stammering, stuttering and nervous hesitation as the most common defects in speech.

"The popular belief that children who do not learn to talk at the normal age are mentally defective is responsible for much unwarranted anxiety," the public health service declared. "While it is true that retarded speech may be an early symptom of mental defect, speech development may be delayed as late as nine years of age in children otherwise normal."

"Partial deafness may also be the cause of speech defect, it continued. Most deaf mutes have perfectly normal speech organs, but do not exercise them because of their inability to hear spoken words. With them the underlying cause of their inability to talk is deafness. Since initiation is such a pronounced factor in the development of speech in children, careful tests should be made of all speech defects for the discovery of partial deafness which may easily account for the imperfect speech. Such children should always be referred to an ear specialist for treatment; and if treatment is ineffective lip reading should be taught."

Look for Malformations.

"Imperfect speech also may be caused by malformation of speech-producing organs, such as harelip, very short upper lip, narrow palate, cleft palate, nasal obstruction, tongue-tie, and very irregular teeth. Careful search should be made for the presence of malformations in order that prompt corrective treatment may be administered. The underlying cause of stammering is purely mental. It is essentially due to emotional disturbance, and implies lessened ability to meet a difficult situation. It is most frequently observed in the so-called nervous, highly strung children."

"As these children grow older they subconsciously fear that their speech organs will refuse to work and have the horror of being the object of ridicule. A sense of inferiority develops, establishing a vicious circle—the greater the dread, the more imperfect their speech."

"Parents should not be deluded by any expectation that the child will outgrow the defect. Only the very mild cases developed through imitation may be said to be outgrown when the increasing mental development of the child enables him to recognize and correct his mistake. The wise parents will give close attention to the speech disorders of their children in order to remove the handicap in life which these disorders impose."

Grandpa of Lobsters

Caught in New England

Lynn, Mass.—Walter Hathaway, a fisherman at Ipswich, recently captured with a boat oar what is believed to be the largest lobster ever taken in New England waters. The lobster was pulled into Hathaway's boat from the bottom of the Ipswich river.

Its measurements were, from tip of claw to tail, 34 inches; from tip of nose to tail, 20½ inches; tail circumference, 10 inches; length of feelers, 20 inches; width of claws, 7 inches, and circumference of body, 16 inches.

ONE THING HE'S DISCOVERED

Blue Blood And Red

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

EDDIE REGAN, once a member of a New York gang, has escaped to Virginia, where he meets and falls in love with Marian Thorndike. He forgets the "gang girl," Bernice Veressi with whom he once fancied himself in love, in his dreams of Marian. Penfield Partridge, last member of an aristocratic Southern family, whom Eddie befriends, dies and leaves Eddie all his possessions. Eddie declares his love to Marian, but she discourages him and tells him she expects to marry Tom Freeman. Eddie goes to call on Marian, and Freeman, who is already there, tells Eddie to get off the premises. Freeman tries to eject him bodily and a fight starts. Marian stops the fight and tells Freeman she will decide who is to be her guest. Eddie stays at the house, and in his intense love for Marian decides to tell her of his past.

Now Go On with the Story

CHAPTER XXIII.
HESITATION halted his speech. A swift thought ran through his mind that if he told her the dangerous truth she might be frightened away. His background had been so utterly different from her own; worse, it had been reckless and cluttered up with all manner of debris that would be repellent to a girl so acutely sensitive, so highbred and fine.

Suppose she knew he had been associated with the Big Guy and the criminal gang in New York—that he had just fallen short of being a criminal himself. Those things, possibly, she might forgive—but there were worse details.

How would it affect her if she knew his arms had embraced a girl like Bernice Veressi—that the same lips that had kissed her so warmly had been pressed with equal firmness against the carnal mouth of the black-eyed girl in New York whose career was almost that of a courtesan?

To tell her the truth might be to lose her. It would be so easy to lie and cover up the facts—there was not a chance on earth that she would ever find him out. The one true and unattainable fact in his life was that he loved—nay, even worshipped her as though she had been a saint. That was the eternal, indestructible truth and before it all else faded into insignificance.

Very slowly he made his decision. He told her the truth about his past.

Silently, without looking at him, she listened to the whole dangerous story. When he had finished, he stopped talking and waited; apparently she had nothing to say to him.

"I've put all my cards on the table," he said finally. "What's the answer?"

To Eddie's bewildered surprise she burst into a sudden storm of tears.

Marian's sudden flood of tears paralyzed Eddie with helplessness. A wild straining in his heart urged him with a clamorous desire to take her in his arms and soothe her with more than one kiss and many caresses. He made a tentative movement toward her but her shoulders shrank away.

It was all an unexpected mvs-

POPULAR AS SINGER

Admittedly one of the most popular night club entertainers in New York, Morton Downey, "Broadway's golden-voiced tenor" who created a sensation in the melody picture "Syncopation" and in Pathe's all dialogue and singing picture, "Mother's Boy," will be seen and heard in another Pathe talking production "Lucky in Love" at the Met theater Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. Downey has the role of an Irish stable boy in this delightful screen creation. He loves dainty Lady Mary Cardigan, played by Betty Lawford, and how he wins her makes highly enjoyable entertainment. Halliwell Hobbes, a well known Shakespearean actor, is seen as the Earl of Balkerry, and Colin Keith-Johnston, a British player of fine ability, is cast in the villain's role. Other stage players in the cast include J. M. Kerrigan, Mackenzie Ward, Elizabeth Murray, Sonia Karlov and others.

The scenes of the picture are laid in Ireland and New York, and the story concerns the love romance of a girl of nobility and a stable boy with a golden voice.

LON HAS BAZARRE ROLE

Grappling with wild tigers and gorillas, and the still more dangerous human emotions, Lon Chaney gives the screen one of his most bizarre, thrilling, and powerful dramatic portrayals in "Where East Is East," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's grim drama of an Oriental jungle, now playing at the Cliftona theater, as a sound synchronized film.

Chaney, in the role of "Tiger" Haynes, jungle animal trapper, rides at the head of herds of elephants, battles with a ferocious tiger and actually traps one of the great beasts. His death struggle with a gorilla is a sensational high-light. Underlying the thrills is a gorgeous love romance.

Lupe Valez, as his half native daughter, is a fiery little creature in a vivid role, and Estelle Taylor as the exotic Oriental vampire is compellingly beautiful. Louis Stern as the priest and Mrs. Wong Wing as the Chinese grandmother are cleverly cast. Lloyd Hughes scores a triumph as the romantic lead.

The great river scene, and the jungle episodes, including the trapping of the tiger, are spectacular backgrounds for the swift moving action.

More and More Millions Follow Trend of Modern Medicine and Treat Colds Externally

To keep pace with the ever-growing demand for Vicks VapoRub, the external treatment for colds, another increase is being made in the figure of the Vicks slogan, made famous when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Used Yearly."

Only a short time ago, the well known "17 Million" was raised to "21 Million." Again this figure has been outgrown, as more and more people turn to this better way of treating colds. There are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly"—a jar for every family in the United States.

A generation ago, when Vicks was originated, the idea of treating colds without "dosing" was almost unheard of. Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing."

Mothers especially have appreciated this modern vaporizing ointment, because it checks colds without risk of upsetting children's delicate stomachs.

And so Vicks spread, until today it has become the family standby for colds—adults as well as children's—in more than 60 countries.

BENEFITS OF EXPLORATION
If farmers had any means of knowing whether the growing season ahead of them was to be wet or dry; if they could be warned of an early fall or a late spring; if manufacturers could be apprized of short summers or long winters, the economic saving would be incalculable.

No one knows how much can be accomplished in this direction, but the Byrd expedition in the Antarctic seems to be accomplishing something. Since air and water currents tend to flow from the polar regions toward the equator the possibilities of improved meteorological service as a result of the present research are great. The expedition may prove of inestimable value.

The public has been much interested in Commander Byrd's adventure. The romance of visiting unknown, frozen lands buried under thick sheets of ice, and facing the dangers of such a hostile region for the ostensible purpose of making known to civilization what it is like, has stimulated the imagination of the public.

For several months the progress of the expedition as told by the radio has edified, entertained and thrilled the world, but more tangible and permanent benefits are expected from it before the explorers return home.

PROGRESS IN THE AIR
Last year the United States took the lead in the production of aircraft. This year it will greatly widen its margin of leadership.

These facts set right our world perspective on aviation. Americans who are familiar with the great air services of Europe have quite naturally formed the opinion that these nations are far ahead of their own in this field.

The fact is that if large governmental subsidies were removed most of the European air lines would collapse. Few are self-sustaining. But in the United States, aviation has had a natural and healthy growth and is now on the threshold of establishment as a complete public utility integrated with the railroads in a network of service for passengers and valuable freights as well as the mails. Americans are buying few foreign planes, while many American-made planes are being sold in foreign countries. From this the one conclusion to draw is that the airplane has been brought nearest the point of perfection in the United States.

Today the tendency in aircraft manufacture seems to be toward more small factories. It was the same with the automobile industry in its infancy. In another year of two the nation will witness many mergers and, it is not unlikely, several failures among the plane manufacturers.

Hohenzollern Family
The Hohenzollerns trace their descent from Count Thasso, who lived about the beginning of the Ninth century, and built a castle on Zollern hill in the Swabian Alps near Hechingen. From this height his descendants derived their patronymic. A separation took place about 1105 when Frederick IV founded the order of Swabian, and Conrad III, the younger of Franconian line. The first was subdivided into the branches of Hechingen and Sigmaringen in 1576. From the Emperor Sigismund Frederick VI, of the younger line, received the investiture of the electorate of Brandenburg, in 1415, and founded the dynasty of kings of Prussia and German emperors that reigned till November, 1918. The branches of the older line continued unbroken till 1849. Then the reigning prince surrounded their respective rights and principalities to the king of Prussia for annual pensions—Literary Digest.

SPEECH DEFECTS ARE NEGLECTED

Survey Shows 500,000 Children Afflicted With Stammering.

Washington.—Disorders in speech have been grossly neglected, according to the United States public health service. This is especially true in the case of school children. It was pointed out in a statement issued here.

Of 1,000,000 persons suffering from some defect in speech in this country today approximately 500,000 are children who stammer or stutter. Uncorrected imperfections in speech observed in childhood, the public health service said, become a serious economic and social handicap in later life because of their bearing on educational achievement and ability to secure preferential employment.

Defects Are Functional.
The majority of speech defects, fortunately, are functional in character, not dependent on definite organic lesions and can, therefore, be corrected. Most speech defects, it was said, develop in children between three and eight years old.

The public health service listed retarded speech, imperfect speech associated with partial deafness, imperfections caused by deformations of the organs of speech, and the nervous speech disorders, namely stammering, stuttering and nervous hesitation as the most common defects in speech.

"The popular belief that children who do not learn to talk at the normal age are mentally defective is responsible for much unwarranted anxiety," the public health service declared. "While it is true that disordered speech may be an early symptom of mental defect, speech development may be delayed as late as nine years of age in children otherwise normal."

"Partial deafness may also be the cause of speech defect, it continued. Most deaf mutes have perfectly normal speech organs, but do not exercise them because of their inability to hear spoken words. With them the underlying cause of their inability to talk is deafness. Since imitation is such a pronounced factor in the development of speech in children, careful tests should be made of all speech defects for the discovery of partial deafness which may easily account for the imperfect speech.

Such children should always be referred to an ear specialist for treatment; and if treatment is ineffective lip reading should be taught.

Look for Malformations.
"Imperfect speech also may be caused by malformation of speech-producing organs, such as harelip, very short upper lip, narrow palate, cleft palate, nasal obstruction, tongue-tie, and very irregular teeth. Careful search should be made for the presence of malformations in order that prompt corrective treatment may be administered. The underlying cause of stammering is purely mental. It is essentially due to emotional disturbance, and implies lessened ability to meet a difficult situation. It is most frequently observed in the so-called nervous, highly strung children.

"As these children grow older they subconsciously fear that their speech organs will refuse to work and have the horror of being the object of ridicule. A sense of inferiority develops, establishing a vicious circle—the greater the dread, the more imperfect their speech.

"Parents should not be deluded by any expectation that the child will outgrow the defect. Only the very mild cases developed through imitation may be said to be outgrown when the increasing mental development of the child enables him to recognize and correct his mistake. The wise parents will give close attention to the speech disorders of their children in order to remove the handicap in life which these disorders impose."

Cecelia Ryan Is Married Wednesday To Dr. Laufersweiler

The usual beautiful solemnity of the St. Joseph's Catholic church marked the wedding Wednesday morning of Miss Cecelia Ryan of Columbus, to Dr. John W. Laufersweiler of Minster, O. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel T. Ryan of W. Ohio-st. The marriage vows were exchanged at nine o'clock before the Rt. Rev. Father J. S. Hannan of the local church.

Miss Margaret Ryan, sister of the bride served as maid-of-honor and Mr. Thomas Ryan, brother of the bride acted as best man.

The ceremony took place before an altar banked with palms and ferns and decorated with baskets of asters and gladioli in autumn shades. Mr. Joseph Burns sang, "Oh, Promise Me," before the service, and "Ave Maria," during the service, followed by "On This Day Oh, Beautiful Mother," accompanied by Mrs. George Groom at the organ.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon, made with long, tight sleeves, a tight bodice and a flared skirt, made with an uneven hemline. Three panels, one in the back and one on each side, fell to the ankle. Her veil was of bridal illusion, made with a cap of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of Briarcliff roses, pink asters and white gladioli.

Her sister wore a sleeveless frock of orchid chiffon, made with a basque waist, with a cape falling to the waistline and a flared skirt with an uneven hemline. She wore a picture hat of orchid hair-braid with a tulle brim. Her arm bouquet was of Pernet roses and yellow and purple asters.

Following the ceremony there was a breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, to which 60 guests had been invited. After a motor trip to Tulsa, Okla., and St. Louis, Mo., Dr. Laufersweiler and his bride will be at home in Minster.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Watts, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Grannan, Mrs. Julia Track, Mrs. Elizabeth Tracy and sons, Paul and Cornelius, Misses Julia and Mary Tracy and Mary Grannan, all of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tracy and sons John and Paul, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. John Ready, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Laufersweiler, Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Westersheide and Miss Loretta Laufersweiler, Minster, and Mr. Warner Laufersweiler, brother of the bridegroom, Cleveland.

REGULAR MEETING OF PYTHIAN SISTERS

The regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters will be Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the temple. This is a meeting that all members should attend. The report of the Grand Temple will be given by Deputy Edie Ghick.

ATTEND PARTY FOR BIRTHDAYS

Mr. and Mrs. George Mehler and daughter, Mary Jane, and son, George, of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Drake of Springfield, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Onley and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Onley and son, Carl, of Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rife of Stoutsville and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Saul and daughter, Jacquelin were guests recently at a birthday party which honored Mr. Arthur Rife and his daughter, Mary.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. Ralph McDill and Miss Florence Tolbert entertained Tuesday night with a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Florence Stout of Town-st, bride-elect. The affair was at the home of Mrs. McDill which was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

The first of the evening, which began at 7:30 o'clock was passed merrily at cards. Later the guests were invited to the dining room, where a long table was lighted by four white candles tied with dainty bows of green tulle. Hanging from a chandelier was a small decorated sprinkling can, and from its spout, streamers ran to the plates and at the end were tied the place cards of the guests. The color motive was entirely green and white.

On the place cards were written small verses, and after refreshments, each guest read her verse, which directed the guest of honor on a trail which led to some concealed gifts. As the gifts were discovered, they were brought back to the table and unwrapped, until all the gifts had been found. Some were upstairs some in the pantry and even the back porch. Excitement reigned until the final present had been admired.

Guests for the event were Miss Florence Stout, Miss Carrie La-Master, Mrs. Fred Boggs, Mrs. Frank Rader, Mrs. William Stout, Miss Ruth Stout, Mrs. Charles Fullen, Mrs. John Seall, Miss Dorothy Robinson, Mrs. Glenn Rader, Miss Hilda Thomas, Mrs. Hartley Thomas and Eleanor McDill and the two hostesses of Circleville and Miss Sadie Anderson of Washington D. C. and Mrs. Arthur Burgett of Columbus.

THEATRIANS PLAN FOR THIS YEAR

At the meeting Monday night of the National Theatrians of the Circleville high school, it was decided that the society should present a dramatic program soon, at morning chapel. They also decided that they should solicit the co-operation of neighboring schools to further dramatic work, to meet for competitive programs.

A letter was read at the meeting in which the announcement was made that Wythe Fetherin, organizer of the local Theatrians, had been selected to act as regional director of Ohio in this vicinity. Mr. Fetherin in the same letter from the national headquarters, was asked to speak at State Educational meeting, soon to be held in Columbus.

Members of this year's Theatrians are Howard Greeno, president,
